BIOGRAPHY

Eva Morris is a British racing driver working towards a professional career in motorsport. She races as #32, the year her great-grandmother was born, and in 2026 she is a Champions of the Future Academy driver, backed by F1 Academy Discover Your Drive.

At five her parents set her a challenge: break the lap record at her local indoor track and she'd get a kart of her own. It took her about two weeks. Her first win came at Clay Pigeon Raceway, the same track where her hero Lewis Hamilton won his first race. She was Vice Champion at the Clay Pigeon and Dunkeswell club championships in Honda Cadets, and won the Wessex Championship in Intermax in 2023.

In 2025, her first international year in Junior Rotax, she took pole position in Junior MAX at the RMC International Trophy at Le Mans, fastest of 68 drivers and the first girl to take pole in the RMCIT Junior class. A month later she finished fourth in the Junior Rotax Grand Prix at Kartmasters, and in September she drove a single-seater for the first time, in a GB4 test with Idola Motorsport at Anglesey.

2026 is her first season in Senior karting. She finished 13th overall out of 185 drivers in the Rotax MAX Challenge Euro Trophy, the highest-placed female driver, finished second in both Champions of the Future Academy UK finals at PFI, and won an Argenti F4 test through the Academy.
